

BBH Income Fund

Monthly Fund Update / July 2021

The BBH Income Fund Class I ("the Fund") returned 1.19% in July, and the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Index returned 1.12%. Outperformance versus the benchmark was due to the Fund's larger allocation to corporate credit.

The 3-7year part of the U.S. Treasury curve tightened by 19 basis points in July. Returns in excess of Treasuries (excess returns) for Investment Grade (IG) and High Yield (HY) corporate bonds were -0.37%(IG) and -0.34%(HY) vs. total returns of 1.37% and 0.38%, respectively. Total return for floating rate loans was -0.01%. Asset-Backed Securities (ABS) and Non-Agency Commercial Mortgage-backed Securities (CMBS) returned 0.21% and 0.93%, respectively.

Companies reported impressive earnings, frequently mentioning inflation, particularly in labor and supply chain constraints. Inflation has been running well above the trend of the last decade, but most sources of inflation appear to be the recovery of pandemic-sensitive sectors. The Fed will likely not change course unless they see full employment or several quarters of inflation surprises. The consensus for a rate hike is late 2022 to early 2023. However, the Fed may discuss tapering at its September meeting. Primary dealers expect the Fed's purchases to begin tapering early next year. Meanwhile, huge fiscal stimulus bills continue to be debated in Washington.

A surge in Covid-19 threatens a curtailment of consumer spending on travel, leisure and dining out. Governments are considering the re-imposition of restrictions on businesses.

Corporate spreads ended wider, reflecting the tension between robust supply, rising risks and historically low compensation for investors. Valuations are broadly unattractive in IG corporate debt, although HY corporate debt offers more value. Compensation in select areas of structured credit remains compelling.

We expect more volatility ahead, as the market sorts out the above risks against minimal investor compensation. We ask our investors to be patient as higher compensation for risk will eventually be available for the investors. Until then we will remain selective in our purchases.

Credit Quality letter ratings are provided by Standard and Poor's, Moody's and Fitch and are presented as the higher of the three ratings. When a security is not rated by Standard & Poor's, Moody's or Fitch, the highest credit ratings from DBRS and Kroll may be used. Absent a rating from these agencies, we may display Private Credit ratings, if permitted by the issuer, which could include ratings from Egan-Jones Ratings Co. Credit rating exposure and composition are subject to change. Issues with credit ratings of BBB or better are considered to be investment grade, with adequate capacity to meet financial commitments. Issues with credit ratings below BBB are considered speculative in nature and are vulnerable to the possibility of issuer failure or business interruption.

Effective duration is a measure of the portfolio's return sensitivity to changes in interest rates.

Weighted Average Life of securities excludes US Treasury futures positions.

Yield to Maturity is the rate of return the portfolio would achieve if all purchased bonds and derivatives were held to maturity, assuming all coupon and principal payments are received as scheduled and reinvested at the same yield to maturity. This figure is subject to change and is not meant to represent the yield earned by any particular security. Yield to Maturity is before fees and expenses.

RISKS

Investors in the Fund should be able to withstand short-term fluctuations in the fixed income markets in return for potentially higher returns over the long term. The value of portfolios changes every day and can be affected by changes in interest rates, general market conditions and other political, social and economic developments.

The value of some bonds including asset-backed and mortgage-backed securities may be sensitive to changes in prevailing interest rates that can cause a decline in their prices. Mortgage related securities are subject to prepayment and extension risk. The Fund also invests in derivative instruments, investments whose values depend on the performance of the underlying security, assets, interest rate, index or currency and entail potentially higher volatility and risk of loss compared to traditional stock or bond investments.

Investing in the bond market is subject to certain risks including market, interest-rate, issuer, maturity, call, credit, and inflation risk; investments may be worth more or less than the original cost when redeemed.

Foreign investing involves special risks including currency risk, increased volatility, political risks, and differences in auditing and other financial standards. Prices of emerging market securities can be significantly more volatile than the prices of securities in developed countries, and currency risk and political risks are accentuated in emerging markets.

Below investment grade bonds, commonly known as junk bonds, are subject to a high level of credit and market risks and are considered speculative.

To the extent that the Fund experiences a large purchase or redemption on any business day, the Fund's performance may be adversely affected.

Neither Morningstar nor its content providers are responsible for any damages or losses arising from any use of this information. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The Morningstar Rating™ for funds, or "star rating", is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The weights are: 100% three-year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 126 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall star rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period actually has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods. The BBH Income Fund was rated against the 551 funds in the Intermediate Core-Plus Bond category for the Overall and three-year time periods ending 7/30/2021. The BBH Income Fund (Class I), received an Overall Morningstar Rating of 5 stars and a three-year rating of 5 stars.
